Delaware takes home Energy Stewardship Champion award

Louisville, KY—The Energy Services Coalition (ESC) announced its Energy Stewardship Champion awards in recognition of states' outstanding accomplishments in leveraging Guaranteed Energy Savings Performance Contracting (GESPC) to achieve energy savings, infrastructure modernization, environmental stewardship, and economic development.

Delaware was among 10 state Champions recognized for this award during the closing ceremonies at the 5th Annual ESC Market Transformation Conference in Louisville, Kentucky on Wednesday, August 24.

"GESPC is a financial strategy leveraging guaranteed future energy savings to pay for energy efficiency upgrades today," said Jim Arwood, ESC Executive Director. "Delaware has achieved considerable success in support of implementing energy efficiency projects in public buildings through the use of a GESPC."

Arwood added that the example Delaware has set through executive and legislative leadership, program design, and the investment in energy upgrades using a GESPC financing solution, is a prime model of using financial and energy resources wisely.

Since 2012, the State of Delaware and the Delaware ESC Chapter have partnered to ensure that GESPC reduces the strain on taxes and supports a healthy environment for Delawarians. The public/private partnership promotes solutions to failing and inefficient equipment in aging public buildings to reduce utility costs and energy and water consumption. Examples of success include the City of Dover, which last year saved more than $341,079 from energy savings projects implemented as a result of a GESPC.

For more than 40 years now performance contracting has proven over and over again to be a smart solution for public organizations -- allowing them to pay for much needed energy upgrades using avoided future energy costs.
